

“对了，你喜欢咱们的校服吗？”

“不太喜欢。样式还可以，但是颜色太难看了。”

English Version

A fellow student greeted me. “Hi, you must be a new student here!”

Surprised, I said, “How did you know? I just moved here from the south with my parents. Today is my first day of school.”

“I knew because today is cold, but you’re wearing shorts. I’m guessing that you don’t know the weather here.”

“Yeah, the weather forecast said today’s high would be 26 degrees centigrade, so I just wore my T-shirt and shorts to school. I didn’t expect it to be so cold in the morning.”

“Take my wool vest. Be careful not to catch a cold.”

“Thank you. But won’t you feel cold if I take your vest?”

“It’s OK. I have a coat I can wear.”

“I’ve only been in this city for a few days, but already think the weather here changes so fast!”

“I agree with you. A little known secret here is that there are four seasons in a year, and also sometimes four seasons in a day.”

“Really? What should I do? What should I wear every day?”

“Don’t worry. You can leave a coat at school in case the weather suddenly gets cold.”

“Good idea! I’ll bring an extra coat to school tomorrow.”

“So do you like our school uniform?”

“Not really. The style is okay, but the colour is ugly.”

The student said, “I don’t like it either.” I said, “We have no choice. We have to wear the school uniform at school.”

“It doesn’t matter. We can wear our own clothes on the weekends. Also, we have ‘casual day’ at school when we don’t have to wear the school uniform.”
